

LOCATIONS DIAGRAM

~ EXPLANATORY NOTES ~

The need for a formal recommendation concerning hardware locations arises principally from changing conditions in the building construction field. Architectural handbooks treat the subject from the standpoint of traditional practice, which was based on wood doors and frames, job-fitted for hardware. In today's buildings, frames usually are of steel, and a large percentage of doors, whether of wood or metal, are being pre-fitted for hardware.